

MASTER SERVICES AGREEMENT between Acme Holdings LLC (the “Customer”) and Northwind Services FZ-LLC (the “Supplier”)

Table of Contents

1. Definitions and Interpretation	2
2. Commencement and Term	5
3. Services	7
4. Service Levels	10
5. Customer Obligations	13
6. Personnel	16
7. Governance	18
8. Change Control	21
9. Charges	24
10. Payment	26
11. Invoicing and Taxes	29
12. Audit	32
13. Intellectual Property	35
14. Licences	37
15. Confidentiality	40
16. Data Protection	43
17. Security	46
18. Warranties	48
19. Indemnities	51
20. Limitation of Liability	54
21. Insurance	56
22. Business Continuity	59
23. Force Majeure	62
24. Suspension	65
25. Termination for Cause	67
26. Termination for Convenience	71
27. Consequences of Termination	73
28. Exit Management	78
29. Assignment	83
30. Subcontracting	88
31. Non-Solicitation of Staff	94
32. Anti-Bribery	99
33. Compliance with Laws	104
34. Notices	109
35. Dispute Resolution	114
36. Variation	119
37. Waiver	125
38. Severance	130
39. Entire Agreement	135
40. Governing Law and Jurisdiction	140

1. DEFINITIONS AND INTERPRETATION

1.1 “Force Majeure Event” means any event beyond the reasonable control of the affected party — including fire, flood, epidemic and governmental action — that prevents it from performing its obligations.

1.2 Neither party must document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Customer may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. The Customer shall document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. Each party will co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services during the Term.

1.3 The parties may maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier will keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. Neither party shall keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure.

1.4 The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Each party may use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

1.5 The Supplier will maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer will keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider must keep under review the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Supplier may document and report on any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The Customer will maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services within a reasonable period.

1.6 Each party must document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Each party must promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services during the Term. Each party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description.

1.7 The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Supplier will keep under review the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider must maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party shall maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure.

1.8 Each party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Supplier will maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

1.9 The Service Provider must maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. Each party may maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party must keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description.

1.10 “Liability Cap” means the total aggregate liability of the Supplier under or in connection with this Agreement, which shall not exceed AED 100,000 (one hundred thousand dirhams) in any Contract Year.

1.11 The Customer shall maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties will maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. Neither party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The Supplier shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period.

1.12 The Service Provider will maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Supplier may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

1.13 The Service Provider shall co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. Neither party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party will keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. Each party shall maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description.

1.14 Neither party may co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider must co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier may keep under review the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Customer shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

1.15 The Supplier must use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Service Provider will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure.

1.16 Each party shall maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services at its own cost. Neither party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

1.17 The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. Neither party may promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider shall document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period.

2. COMMENCEMENT AND TERM

2.1 Neither party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Customer will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

2.2 Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The parties may keep under review the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure.

2.3 Neither party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier may use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services at its own cost.

2.4 Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. Each party will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

2.5 The Service Provider may document and report on any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Customer shall co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The parties will promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party must document and report on any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier may keep under review the performance of the Services during the Term.

2.6 The Supplier shall co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. Each party will use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term.

2.7 The Supplier must comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Each party must co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties may promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The Supplier will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

3. SERVICES

3.1 Suspension or termination of any individual Service shall not affect the provision of the remaining Services.

3.2 The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The parties shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Customer may promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Supplier must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

3.3 The parties will maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider must maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The parties may document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost.

3.4 The Customer will maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The parties will maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

3.5 The Customer may co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. Each party will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party will keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Customer will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description.

3.6 The Supplier shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Supplier shall co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The parties will co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term.

3.7 The Service Provider will document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. Neither party must keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The parties may comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The Supplier may document and report on any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description.

3.8 The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Service Provider must maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

3.9 The parties may promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party will document and report on the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description.

3.10 Neither party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. Neither party will document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier will document and report on the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure.

3.11 The Supplier shall co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider shall promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The Service Provider must keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The parties shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term.

3.12 The Service Provider must keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider will keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

3.13 Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Customer will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer must document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier may keep under review the security of the Customer Data at its own cost.

3.14 The Service Provider will keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. Neither party must keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Customer shall document and report on any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Supplier must keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description.

3.15 The Customer must maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Customer may use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

3.16 The Supplier must maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier shall keep under review the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

4. SERVICE LEVELS

4.1 Each party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The Service Provider will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Supplier may use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party will use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost.

4.2 Neither party may document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party may promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Customer may document and report on the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement.

4.3 Each party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer will maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. Neither party must use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement.

4.4 The Supplier shall maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

4.5 The Customer shall keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier will maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Customer shall co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. Each party shall maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

4.6 The Supplier shall maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Service Provider will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Service Provider may use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

4.7 The Service Provider may document and report on the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The Service Provider will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party must promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider will maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost.

4.8 The Customer shall keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party shall maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

4.9 The Supplier may maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term.

4.10 Neither party may promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider may document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The parties will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services during the Term.

4.11 Neither party may maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. Each party may document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider must document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description.

4.12 The Supplier will document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

4.13 The Customer may use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Customer will promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer must co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier shall keep under review the security of the Customer Data at its own cost.

4.14 The Customer will document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Supplier shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party shall document and report on the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Supplier must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels at its own cost.

4.15 The parties must use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Service Provider shall co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

5. CUSTOMER OBLIGATIONS

5.1 Neither party shall promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Supplier may document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Customer shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider will use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost.

5.2 The parties shall document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer will co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Supplier may co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party shall maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

5.3 The Customer must co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. Neither party will use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement.

5.4 Neither party will keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. The Supplier must use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

5.5 The Supplier may use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Supplier may maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost.

5.6 Each party shall keep under review the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Customer shall keep under review the performance of the Services during the Term. The parties will document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description.

5.7 The Service Provider may keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. Each party will maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. Neither party must keep under review the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The Supplier may promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels at its own cost.

5.8 Each party may promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider shall document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

5.9 The Customer may use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Supplier will keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services during the Term.

5.10 The Service Provider must co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Service Provider may keep under review the performance of the Services at its own cost. Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

5.11 Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer must keep under review the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Each party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Customer must co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services at its own cost.

5.12 The Customer will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider may document and report on any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

5.13 The Service Provider may provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer shall promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer will document and report on any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period.

5.14 Each party must promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The Supplier shall co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. The parties must co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure.

5.15 The parties shall co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services at its own cost. Each party must promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description.

6. PERSONNEL

6.1 The Service Provider shall maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description.

6.2 The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. Neither party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The Customer shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer shall maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term.

6.3 Neither party shall maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services at its own cost. The parties must promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Supplier must maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure.

6.4 The Customer may document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The Service Provider shall maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

6.5 Neither party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer will maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The parties may comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period.

6.6 Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer must use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

6.7 The Supplier may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The parties shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Service Provider will use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels at its own cost.

6.8 The Service Provider will use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The parties may comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

7. GOVERNANCE

7.1 Neither party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties must co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider shall maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. Neither party may promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description.

7.2 The Supplier shall promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Supplier must co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider must maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. Each party must maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. Each party must maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement.

7.3 Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. Neither party may promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost.

7.4 Each party must co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. Neither party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

7.5 The parties may use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties will document and report on the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term.

7.6 Each party shall keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. Each party shall document and report on the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. Neither party may maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description.

7.7 The parties may provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Neither party may document and report on the security of the Customer Data during the Term. Neither party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period.

7.8 The Service Provider shall promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

7.9 The Customer may comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties shall promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description.

7.10 The Supplier must maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Supplier must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description.

7.11 Each party must document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Service Provider must maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The parties will promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Customer may comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure.

7.12 The Supplier may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The parties must promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

7.13 Neither party will keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The parties must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Supplier may keep under review any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term.

7.14 The parties shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Supplier shall maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. The Supplier will maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party shall keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. Neither party will promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement.

8. CHANGE CONTROL

8.1 The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The Customer may maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Service Provider may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period.

8.2 Neither party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party may keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period.

8.3 The Customer must keep under review any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer shall promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The Supplier may use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description.

8.4 Neither party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

8.5 The Service Provider will promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer shall document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. Each party will promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Supplier shall document and report on the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement.

8.6 The parties must comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. Neither party will document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure.

8.7 Each party shall document and report on any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Each party will maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Customer must keep under review any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period.

8.8 Neither party shall promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party will promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

8.9 The Supplier must promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The parties shall co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The parties must maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data during the Term.

8.10 The Service Provider will use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The parties must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier will maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall keep under review any change to the Service Levels at its own cost.

8.11 Each party must co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. The parties will document and report on any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The parties will use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

8.12 The Service Provider will use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Service Provider must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

8.13 The Customer shall promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider shall keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The Customer must co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services during the Term.

8.14 Neither party shall keep under review the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party shall keep under review the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties must use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier must co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. Neither party shall document and report on any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

8.15 The Service Provider will promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. Neither party will use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The parties shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data during the Term.

9. CHARGES

9.1 The Customer must use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The parties may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Service Provider must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Supplier may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost.

9.2 The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. Each party may promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. The parties will keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall keep under review any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period.

9.3 The Supplier will keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The Customer may promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The Supplier must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description.

9.4 Each party shall document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Customer will maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

9.5 Each party may promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider may promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party may keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services within a reasonable period.

9.6 The parties shall document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Supplier may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The parties may maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term.

9.7 The Customer will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider will promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party may maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

9.8 Neither party may document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier may document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

10. PAYMENT

10.1 The parties must comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The Service Provider will use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Service Provider must maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier may maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

10.2 The parties may keep under review the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party may maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services at its own cost. Neither party will promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Neither party must promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Customer must keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

10.3 Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. The Customer shall maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period.

10.4 The Customer will co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties shall promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

10.5 Neither party shall document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The parties shall maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Service Provider may promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term.

10.6 The Supplier shall maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider must co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost.

10.7 The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer must maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The parties may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data at its own cost.

10.8 Each party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

10.9 The Customer may document and report on the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. The Supplier must promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. Each party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

10.10 The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. Each party will promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Supplier may document and report on any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. Each party must co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description.

10.11 Neither party may document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties shall co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The parties must co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party must promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider may keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure.

10.12 The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

10.13 The parties must promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. Each party will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services within a reasonable period.

10.14 Neither party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Customer shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

11. INVOICING AND TAXES

11.1 The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services during the Term. Each party must promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier will keep under review the performance of the Services during the Term. The Service Provider must keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost.

11.2 The parties may maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. The Customer must co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. The Service Provider may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. Neither party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description.

11.3 The parties will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Customer shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Service Provider shall document and report on any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure.

11.4 Each party must keep under review the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

11.5 Neither party shall keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider must co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The Customer may promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties will use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party will keep under review the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

11.6 The Supplier will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The parties must maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Supplier will document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description.

11.7 The Supplier shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. Each party shall document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. Each party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services at its own cost. The parties shall co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure.

11.8 The Service Provider may comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

11.9 The Customer must promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. Each party will keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Service Provider will keep under review the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement.

11.10 The Supplier must promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties may use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Customer shall maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost.

11.11 The Supplier must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider shall co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Service Provider shall document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The Customer may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure.

11.12 The Service Provider will keep under review any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

11.13 Neither party may co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. Each party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Customer must document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier shall keep under review the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

11.14 Each party will use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. Each party will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party must maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The parties may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Each party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

11.15 Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer shall maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The Supplier shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data during the Term.

12. AUDIT

12.1 The Supplier shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier will keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. Neither party will use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure.

12.2 The parties must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services during the Term. Each party will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. Neither party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. Neither party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description.

12.3 The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period.

12.4 The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. Neither party shall maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

12.5 Neither party shall promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties will document and report on any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. Each party must keep under review the security of the Customer Data during the Term.

12.6 Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer may use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. The Service Provider shall maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

12.7 The Supplier shall co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Supplier must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier will keep under review the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party may keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure.

12.8 The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer shall maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

12.9 The Customer will use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The parties will keep under review any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer shall keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure.

12.10 The Service Provider must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties must co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The parties shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The parties will co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term.

12.11 The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier may maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The parties shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The parties may comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. Neither party may document and report on the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

12.12 The Supplier shall keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Supplier shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

12.13 Neither party shall document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider may keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider may keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

12.14 Each party must maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Customer will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure.

12.15 Each party will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services at its own cost. The parties shall document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Customer shall keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

13. INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

13.1 The Supplier must maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Service Provider shall maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Supplier will co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

13.2 Neither party shall document and report on the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The Supplier may provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier must co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services at its own cost. Neither party may document and report on the performance of the Services at its own cost. The parties shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period.

13.3 The Customer must use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer shall keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

13.4 Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Each party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

13.5 The parties will co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. Neither party shall keep under review any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Each party will co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data during the Term. Neither party shall document and report on any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure.

13.6 The parties may use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer may maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

13.7 Each party must document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Service Provider shall keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. The Service Provider must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period.

13.8 Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

14. LICENCES

14.1 The Customer shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. Neither party will use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. Each party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Customer may document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement.

14.2 The Service Provider may use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Supplier may promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties may maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. Each party shall keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider must keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term.

14.3 The Customer will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. Each party must promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure.

14.4 Each party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

14.5 The Supplier must use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer shall promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The Customer will promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

14.6 Each party may promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Customer shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description.

14.7 The Supplier shall promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Service Provider will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The Supplier shall maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer will document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period.

14.8 Each party must promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The parties must use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

14.9 The parties may maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider must maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier shall maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data during the Term.

14.10 Each party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider shall promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services at its own cost. Each party must document and report on the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. The Supplier shall co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement.

14.11 The parties must use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The parties must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. Neither party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. Neither party shall promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement.

14.12 Neither party will maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

14.13 Each party will co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Supplier must document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description.

14.14 Each party may promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. Each party will document and report on the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. The parties will use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer will keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure.

15. CONFIDENTIALITY

15.1 The Supplier may use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party must promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Each party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels during the Term.

15.2 Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Supplier may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement.

15.3 The Supplier shall document and report on the performance of the Services during the Term. The parties may document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. Each party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description.

15.4 The Supplier must promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Neither party may document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

15.5 The Customer must keep under review the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The Customer may keep under review the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period.

15.6 Each party will use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party will keep under review the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The Customer may maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure.

15.7 The Supplier may promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party will keep under review any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The Supplier must maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period.

15.8 The parties must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. Neither party must co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service

Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

15.9 Each party must maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The parties must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. Each party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement.

15.10 The Customer must keep under review the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. Each party may keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party may keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description.

15.11 Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The parties will promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Supplier may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement.

15.12 The Customer may use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

15.13 Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Supplier shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. Neither party may document and report on any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The parties will keep under review the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description.

15.14 The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. Neither party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Supplier may document and report on any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer must maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description.

15.15 Neither party must keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Supplier must promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description.

16. DATA PROTECTION

16.1 Each party shall keep under review any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The Supplier will document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description.

16.2 Each party may promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The parties may document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description.

16.3 Each party must co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. Each party must promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period.

16.4 Neither party may promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Each party will document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

16.5 Neither party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data during the Term. Neither party must document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. Each party must co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The Service Provider must document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider may promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement.

16.6 Each party shall document and report on any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description.

16.7 Neither party may keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider must keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier must keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

16.8 Neither party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party may promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

16.9 Each party may promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Customer may promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The parties shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

16.10 Each party will promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The parties shall co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. Neither party will use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The Supplier shall promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description.

16.11 The Supplier will document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. Each party may keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party must co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The Customer may maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider will maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure.

16.12 The parties will co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The parties must document and report on any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

16.13 The Service Provider will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. Neither party shall keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement.

16.14 The Customer may keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The parties may document and report on any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party shall promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services within a reasonable period.

16.15 The Supplier will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer will keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall document and report on the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement.

17. SECURITY

17.1 The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties must document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider may promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties must document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure.

17.2 The Service Provider will comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The parties may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Customer may maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer must promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services during the Term.

17.3 The Supplier may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. Neither party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Customer must co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

17.4 The Service Provider will promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

17.5 The Supplier shall maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. Neither party may maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party may co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The parties must co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The Supplier must co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

17.6 The parties may use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier must maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier shall keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period.

17.7 Neither party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. Each party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

18. WARRANTIES

18.1 The parties must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. Neither party shall document and report on the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. Each party shall promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

18.2 Neither party may co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. Each party may maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Service Provider must co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer shall co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description.

18.3 The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider shall keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Supplier must use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term.

18.4 The Customer shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Supplier must promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

18.5 The Service Provider will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The parties may document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The parties may keep under review the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement.

18.6 The Service Provider shall document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier will document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. Each party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period.

18.7 Neither party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. The Customer will document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The Supplier must document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure.

18.8 The Customer will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

18.9 The Customer will maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Supplier shall promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description.

18.10 Neither party must maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The parties may use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. Neither party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Supplier shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description.

18.11 The parties must promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Neither party may maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties shall maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

18.12 The parties will use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties may document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

18.13 Each party may maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Customer shall document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Customer must promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure.

18.14 The Service Provider shall maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider shall co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. Neither party must keep under review the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party must document and report on the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. Each party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

18.15 The Supplier shall keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. Neither party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Supplier may keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement.

19. INDEMNITIES

19.1 The Service Provider will keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party may promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure.

19.2 The Service Provider must document and report on any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. Neither party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Supplier may use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. Each party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels during the Term.

19.3 The Service Provider must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure.

19.4 Each party may document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

19.5 The Customer shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. Neither party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The Supplier will keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description.

19.6 The Customer must use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Supplier shall promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. Each party shall document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term.

19.7 The Supplier must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. Neither party may document and report on the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services at its own cost.

19.8 The Customer may use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Each party will keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

19.9 The Supplier must comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. Neither party may document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. Each party must document and report on the performance of the Services during the Term.

19.10 Neither party must co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party may promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services during the Term.

19.11 Each party must promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier may keep under review the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. The Supplier may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services during the Term. The parties may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term.

19.12 The Service Provider shall keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party shall keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

19.13 The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure.

19.14 The Supplier may promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services during the Term. The Service Provider may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer will use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Service Provider will document and report on the performance of the Services within a reasonable period.

19.15 Neither party must keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Customer may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier will keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description.

20. LIMITATION OF LIABILITY

20.1 The Supplier's total liability under this Agreement is limited to the Liability Cap, save as set out in clause 20.3.

20.2 The Customer must keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. Each party may keep under review any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Supplier will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Customer must co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

20.3 Neither party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure.

20.4 The Service Provider shall maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Customer shall keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

20.5 Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties must promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

20.6 The Supplier shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The Customer may use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The Service Provider may promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description.

20.7 The parties shall keep under review the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer will co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Service Provider shall promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description.

20.8 The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The parties must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

21. INSURANCE

21.1 The Customer shall keep under review the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Service Provider must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider shall document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

21.2 The parties may promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Supplier shall maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The parties shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure.

21.3 The Customer shall keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party may document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. Neither party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost.

21.4 The parties must promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party shall promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

21.5 The Customer may maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier may keep under review the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The Service Provider shall document and report on the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. Neither party will promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

21.6 The Service Provider may keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider may use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure.

21.7 The Customer may document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. Neither party shall keep under review any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer must use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Neither party may document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

21.8 The Supplier shall document and report on any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall keep under review any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

21.9 Each party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The parties may document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost.

21.10 The Service Provider must co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The Supplier must co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Service Provider shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term.

21.11 The parties may maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties may keep under review any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Customer shall keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period.

21.12 The Customer shall maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Customer must document and report on the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

21.13 The parties shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Customer shall document and report on the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Each party must co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure.

21.14 Each party must document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Supplier shall keep under review any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Supplier shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost.

21.15 Each party may keep under review any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. Each party will document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term.

least annually, and provide the Customer with a written summary of each test within ten Business Days of its completion, including any remediation actions identified and the timetable for completing them.

22.2 The Supplier may use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The Customer must promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer will co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term.

22.3 The Supplier will maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party must document and report on the security of the Customer Data during the Term.

22.4 The Service Provider will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer will use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

22.5 The parties may use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier will document and report on the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Service Provider will promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The Customer will document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier must use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term.

22.6 The Supplier shall keep under review any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties may use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. Each party shall maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description.

22.7 The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

22.8 The parties will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The Supplier must keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

23. FORCE MAJEURE

23.1 The Service Provider will document and report on the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. The Supplier may document and report on the performance of the Services at its own cost. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. The Customer shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data at its own cost.

23.2 The parties will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. The Supplier must maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The parties shall maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer shall maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. Each party must document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement.

23.3 The Customer shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties must use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party will maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement.

23.4 The Supplier may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Supplier must use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

23.5 Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services at its own cost. The parties shall maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services at its own cost. The parties will document and report on the performance of the Services during the Term.

23.6 Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The Service Provider will document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

23.7 The Supplier may document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party shall co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Customer will document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description.

23.8 Each party must promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Customer must document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

23.9 The Customer shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. Neither party must maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. Neither party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement.

23.10 The Supplier shall promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties will use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider will keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. Each party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description.

23.11 The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party will use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Customer will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Supplier shall co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Service Provider shall keep under review any change to the Service Levels during the Term.

23.12 The Supplier shall keep under review any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

23.13 Neither party will promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider must co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party will promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement.

23.14 The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. Each party will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Service Provider may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description.

23.15 The Service Provider will promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties shall keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services within a reasonable period.

24. SUSPENSION

24.1 The Supplier may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost.

24.2 Neither party shall keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier will document and report on any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider may promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description.

24.3 The Supplier must document and report on any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Customer may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. Neither party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels at its own cost.

24.4 The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties may use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

24.5 The Supplier must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. Neither party will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. The parties will use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider will use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period.

24.6 Each party may promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The parties must promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Customer will co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description.

24.7 Each party will document and report on any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The parties will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Customer will use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement.

25. TERMINATION FOR CAUSE

25.1 Neither party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Service Provider may document and report on the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

25.2 The parties may promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Supplier will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. Each party shall maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period.

25.3 The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Supplier will document and report on the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. Each party must keep under review the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

25.4 The Customer may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services during the Term. The Service Provider may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

25.5 The parties shall document and report on the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. Neither party may co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier may document and report on any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

25.6 The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Supplier will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

25.7 The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. The Supplier shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer must use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure.

25.8 The Customer must document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The parties shall document and report on any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

25.9 Neither party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period.

25.10 The parties may promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Service Provider must keep under review the performance of the Services during the Term. Each party shall keep under review the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period.

25.11 Neither party shall document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties shall maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier shall keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall document and report on the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure.

25.12 The Customer may maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

25.13 The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Customer may maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services at its own cost. Neither party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost.

25.14 The Customer will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The parties must document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier shall keep under review the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider shall document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term.

25.15 The parties shall maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties may promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

25.16 Neither party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider shall document and report on the performance of the Services during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

25.17 The Service Provider will use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall keep under review the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The Service Provider shall promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Supplier may co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Customer will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

25.18 The Service Provider must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party may keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period.

25.19 The parties will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. Each party will keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Supplier will keep under review the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

25.20 The parties shall document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Customer must use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

25.21 Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Each party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer must maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement.

25.22 The Service Provider will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier shall keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party will keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The parties may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

26. TERMINATION FOR CONVENIENCE

26.1 Either party may terminate this Agreement for convenience by giving not less than 30 days' written notice to the other party.

26.2 The Customer will use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. Neither party shall maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period.

26.3 The parties will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Customer will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The parties will co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

26.4 The Customer must keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Neither party must keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

26.5 The parties will promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The parties may promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. Each party will co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The parties shall document and report on any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

26.6 The parties must comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services during the Term. The Service Provider will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term.

26.7 Neither party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The Customer shall maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties must document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure.

26.8 The parties may keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

26.9 Each party will use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. Each party must co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties may document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period.

27. CONSEQUENCES OF TERMINATION

27.1 Each party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer will use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure.

27.2 Neither party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Customer may document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. The Service Provider shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party must maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost.

27.3 The parties must use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier will keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost.

27.4 Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

27.5 The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Each party may document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider will comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The Service Provider shall document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost.

27.6 The Service Provider must document and report on any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The Customer will maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost.

27.7 Neither party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Customer may promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The Customer will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services at its own cost.

27.8 The Customer will keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier must maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

27.9 The parties will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier shall maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party must maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data at its own cost.

27.10 The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier will document and report on the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. Each party shall promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party shall promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

27.11 The parties shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Service Provider will maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier must comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Supplier shall promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Service Provider must document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement.

27.12 The Service Provider shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

27.13 Neither party will promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Supplier may provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

27.14 Each party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Service Provider must keep under review any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The Customer shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider may comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Supplier shall promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost.

27.15 The Supplier shall document and report on any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. Each party shall promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties will co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description.

27.16 Neither party shall maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

27.17 Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Supplier may document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Supplier may maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services at its own cost. Neither party will promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties may document and report on any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement.

27.18 The parties must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement.

27.19 The Supplier must keep under review the performance of the Services during the Term. Each party shall keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties must promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The Customer will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

27.20 Each party may maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Supplier must use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

27.21 The Customer shall promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Supplier will keep under review the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. Neither party may promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description.

27.22 The Service Provider may promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Service Provider will use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels at its own cost.

27.23 Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. Each party may maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer may keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term.

27.24 The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

27.25 The Customer must promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider must co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. The Supplier shall document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period.

27.26 Neither party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party will co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Customer must maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services at its own cost. Each party shall promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties must use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure.

27.27 The Customer will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Service Provider may use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data during the Term. Neither party will use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels at its own cost.

27.28 The parties shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

27.29 Neither party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Customer will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer will promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Customer may document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

28. EXIT MANAGEMENT

28.1 The parties must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data during the Term. Neither party may keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. Neither party shall keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. Each party may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement.

28.2 The parties shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. The Supplier must keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Each party may maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier must maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier will keep under review the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

28.3 Neither party shall document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party will promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data at its own cost.

28.4 Each party shall promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. Neither party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

28.5 Each party may maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. The Customer must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services during the Term. Each party will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Supplier must promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services during the Term. The parties shall promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

28.6 The Service Provider will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost.

28.7 The parties may use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier must use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement.

28.8 The parties shall document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Supplier may keep under review the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

28.9 The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. Neither party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Customer shall document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term.

28.10 The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description.

28.11 The parties will promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. Neither party shall promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties will promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The parties may keep under review any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period.

28.12 Neither party will keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Customer will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

28.13 The Customer shall keep under review any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier shall maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Each party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost.

28.14 Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider will use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. Neither party will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

28.15 The Supplier shall co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. Each party shall promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period.

28.16 Neither party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Supplier shall maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

28.17 The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party must document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. Neither party shall maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties must document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Customer must document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost.

28.18 Neither party shall promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Supplier will keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The Supplier may maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period.

28.19 The Service Provider shall co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Service Provider must keep under review the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The parties must keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. Each party must maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data during the Term.

28.20 The parties will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party may co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

28.21 The Customer may provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Supplier must use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement.

28.22 The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The parties shall co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

28.23 Neither party will co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data during the Term. Each party will maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party will co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period.

28.24 The Service Provider shall co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

28.25 Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. Each party will document and report on any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties must keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Service Provider will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

28.26 Neither party shall document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer must keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Each party must promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party must promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description.

28.27 The Supplier shall promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Service Provider will promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost.

28.28 Neither party will co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Supplier shall co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

28.29 Neither party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer shall document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. Neither party will promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider may document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement.

29. ASSIGNMENT

29.1 Neither party will document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier may keep under review the performance of the Services at its own cost. Neither party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services during the Term. Neither party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement.

29.2 Neither party will promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Service Provider must co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties shall keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Supplier must co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description.

29.3 The Supplier may document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. Each party shall maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier must promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement.

29.4 The Customer must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Customer shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

29.5 Neither party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. Neither party must maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier must use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure.

29.6 The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Neither party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term.

29.7 Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Supplier must promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term.

29.8 The Service Provider must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

29.9 The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The parties may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. Each party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost.

29.10 The Service Provider may use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Customer may keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term.

29.11 The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Customer shall document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The Customer will maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. The Supplier shall keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

29.12 The Service Provider will document and report on the performance of the Services at its own cost. Neither party may promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

29.13 Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The parties may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties will use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

29.14 The Supplier must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Customer may use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Customer shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer

Data during the Term. Neither party must document and report on the security of the Customer Data during the Term. Neither party must maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost.

29.15 Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Neither party may document and report on the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties may keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description.

29.16 The Service Provider shall keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The parties shall document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

29.17 Each party will use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The parties will document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Supplier must document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period.

29.18 The parties will keep under review any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer must co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period.

29.19 Neither party may keep under review the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. Each party shall maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier may co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description.

29.20 Each party will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The parties shall keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

29.21 The parties may maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services at its own cost. Neither party shall maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

29.22 Neither party shall document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer must use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. Neither party may promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost.

29.23 The Customer will document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. Each party shall promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider shall keep under review the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Customer shall co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services within a reasonable period.

29.24 The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

29.25 The Service Provider will maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. The Service Provider shall maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party may promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services at its own cost.

29.26 The parties shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Customer will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. Each party will document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The parties may keep under review the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

29.27 Neither party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Customer shall keep under review the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties must maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

29.28 Each party must maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Service Provider may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

29.29 The Service Provider shall keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. Each party may promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider will document and report on the performance of the Services at its own cost. Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties must keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost.

30. SUBCONTRACTING

30.1 The Supplier shall maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The parties shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party will use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data during the Term.

30.2 Neither party may co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties must promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services at its own cost. Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The parties must promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The Customer may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period.

30.3 The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Supplier may keep under review the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure.

30.4 The parties will document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

30.5 Each party will co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will document and report on any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties must keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Customer will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. Neither party will keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description.

30.6 The parties will keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost.

30.7 Each party will keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Customer must maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Supplier will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost.

30.8 Neither party will document and report on any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

30.9 The Service Provider shall maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party shall maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement.

30.10 The Service Provider will keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. Each party shall document and report on the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost.

30.11 Each party will maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Service Provider must keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The parties must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The Service Provider shall co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term.

30.12 The Customer shall promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Each party shall promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

30.13 The Service Provider may use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The parties will use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Customer will document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer must document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure.

30.14 Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Service Provider may use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties may maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Service Provider shall co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. The Service Provider must keep under review any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement.

30.15 The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier shall document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. Each party may cooperate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

30.16 Neither party may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The parties may promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

30.17 The Supplier must document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. The parties must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. Each party will promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider will keep under review the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement.

30.18 The Supplier may document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier shall promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement.

30.19 The parties must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer shall keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party may promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period.

30.20 The parties shall maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier will co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

30.21 The Supplier may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Customer may use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. The Customer shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost.

30.22 Each party shall keep under review the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Supplier may co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Each party will promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description.

30.23 Each party will co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The parties will use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties will document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Customer shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party must promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description.

30.24 The Customer will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider must keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

30.25 The parties may document and report on the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The Supplier shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Supplier may document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Customer shall keep under review the performance of the Services within a reasonable period.

30.26 The parties will maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer will use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier must maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider must document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement.

30.27 Each party shall maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party will use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description.

30.28 Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. Neither party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

30.29 The Supplier must maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The Customer may maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer shall document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description.

30.30 The Supplier shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Customer will use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost.

30.31 The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. The parties must use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Supplier may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description.

30.32 The Customer will maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. Neither party shall maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

30.33 The Supplier may maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. Each party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period.

30.34 Neither party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Supplier must maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. Neither party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer will keep under review the performance of the Services within a reasonable period.

30.35 Each party shall maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties will promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer will maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure.

30.36 Each party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Service Provider will use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

30.37 The Customer shall document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. Each party must keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure.

31. NON-SOLICITATION OF STAFF

31.1 The parties may document and report on the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier shall keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. Each party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost.

31.2 The Customer may provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. Each party shall maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer shall promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description.

31.3 The parties must use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. Neither party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement.

31.4 The Supplier will co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

31.5 The Service Provider may keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Supplier will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The parties will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. Each party will promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description.

31.6 The Supplier will maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. Each party will document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description.

31.7 Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider will maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider will document and report on any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties shall keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term.

31.8 The Service Provider will use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

31.9 The Supplier shall promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier must co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. Neither party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services during the Term.

31.10 The parties must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer may document and report on the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period.

31.11 Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier may use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party will keep under review the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

31.12 The Customer shall co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

31.13 The parties will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. Neither party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. Each party shall keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Supplier must keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period.

31.14 Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The parties may use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer shall co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure.

31.15 The Supplier may document and report on any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Supplier must promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Supplier will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure.

31.16 The Customer shall co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Service Provider will comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

31.17 Neither party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may keep under review any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. Neither party may co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services during the Term. Neither party may maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. Neither party must document and report on the performance of the Services during the Term.

31.18 Neither party may keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure.

31.19 Each party shall keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Neither party must co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Supplier may document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description.

31.20 The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Service Provider shall promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

31.21 The Service Provider may keep under review the performance of the Services during the Term. The Supplier must document and report on the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services at its own cost.

31.22 The parties shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. Neither party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services at its own cost. The parties may maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels during the Term.

31.23 Neither party shall document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. The Customer may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Customer shall keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The Supplier may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description.

31.24 The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

31.25 Neither party will keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer shall promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties will co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description.

31.26 The Service Provider must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Supplier will document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. Each party must co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services during the Term. Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party must keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

31.27 The Customer will co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer may keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period.

31.28 The parties may keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. The parties shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

31.29 The parties may use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier shall co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Supplier shall promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The Service Provider will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description.

31.30 Neither party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement.

32. ANTI-BRIBERY

32.1 Each party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. Each party must document and report on the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party shall maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier will co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term.

32.2 Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer shall keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier must promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Supplier must maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description.

32.3 Neither party must maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The Customer may promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider must maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

32.4 The Customer will use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The parties must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

32.5 Each party will use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. Each party shall keep under review any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Supplier will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties must use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement.

32.6 Neither party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier may document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The parties may document and report on the performance of the Services within a reasonable period.

32.7 The Service Provider must keep under review the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The parties may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The Supplier must co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure.

32.8 Neither party may keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

32.9 The parties may keep under review the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer will promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The Service Provider will promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement.

32.10 The parties must keep under review the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Each party will use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer must maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. Neither party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost.

32.11 The Customer will promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The parties shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties must document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Supplier may keep under review the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The Supplier shall document and report on the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description.

32.12 The Supplier may keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Service Provider will keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

32.13 Each party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party must promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider shall keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period.

32.14 The Customer shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. The Customer must keep under review the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider must co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer will document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties must keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement.

32.15 Each party shall promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

32.16 The Supplier may document and report on any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties shall promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

32.17 Neither party may keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. Each party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party must co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party must keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description.

32.18 Neither party must maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer will use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer will maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement.

32.19 Neither party will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party may maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term.

32.20 Neither party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Customer will promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

32.21 The Supplier may document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. Each party may document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description.

32.22 The Service Provider must document and report on the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Customer must promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Each party may keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels at its own cost.

32.23 Neither party will maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Supplier may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Customer will promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description.

32.24 Neither party will document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The Supplier shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

32.25 Neither party must keep under review the security of the Customer Data during the Term. Each party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement.

32.26 The Customer shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. Each party may keep under review the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider must comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party will maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer must maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost.

32.27 The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The Supplier may use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier must maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term.

32.28 The Supplier shall document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

32.29 The Service Provider must maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services at its own cost. Each party must co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party may promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The parties will use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement.

32.30 Each party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Supplier must comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The parties will keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure.

33. COMPLIANCE WITH LAWS

33.1 The Customer must co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. Each party will maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The Service Provider may promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure.

33.2 The Customer will use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. Neither party shall co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The Supplier may use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party will co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. Neither party may promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description.

33.3 The Service Provider will keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. Each party will maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period.

33.4 The Customer must use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider may comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

33.5 The Customer shall maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. Neither party will co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. The parties must co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The parties will keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement.

33.6 The Customer must maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost.

33.7 The parties must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party will promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party may maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Customer may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description.

33.8 Each party will co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. Neither party may keep under review the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

33.9 Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider may comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement.

33.10 Each party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer must keep under review any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. Each party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term.

33.11 The Service Provider shall document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The parties must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services during the Term. Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term.

33.12 Each party will use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider will keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

33.13 Each party shall keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Customer must maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Supplier may use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period.

33.14 The Supplier must promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The Customer shall keep under review any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The Customer must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Each party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The parties will promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost.

33.15 Neither party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data during the Term. Neither party will document and report on the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. Each party shall document and report on any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure.

33.16 The Service Provider will document and report on any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

33.17 Each party must promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The parties may provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. Neither party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. Neither party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

33.18 The Customer may promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure.

33.19 Neither party may promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier will document and report on the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The Customer must promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure.

33.20 The Service Provider will use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services during the Term. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

33.21 The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The parties must promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services during the Term. Each party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services at its own cost.

33.22 The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The parties may maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. Neither party may promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure.

33.23 The Customer must promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties shall keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer will co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Service Provider shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Supplier may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

33.24 The parties shall keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The parties will use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

33.25 The Customer will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. Each party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Customer shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description.

33.26 The Supplier will document and report on the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider must keep under review any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Service Provider will use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party must co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party must co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period.

33.27 The parties must keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The Supplier must use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Customer shall maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost.

33.28 Neither party will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

33.29 The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. Neither party will document and report on the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties will maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost.

33.30 Each party shall maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer may maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement.

34. NOTICES

34.1 The Supplier may co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Supplier shall maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The parties shall co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement.

34.2 Neither party must promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. Neither party shall document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The parties will maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels at its own cost.

34.3 Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider must keep under review the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The parties may document and report on the performance of the Services during the Term.

34.4 The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. Neither party shall promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

34.5 The Supplier may keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. Each party will promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. Neither party must promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The Customer shall keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may document and report on the security of the Customer Data at its own cost.

34.6 Neither party may co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The parties will promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description.

34.7 The Supplier shall keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The parties may use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. Each party may document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. Neither party must document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost.

34.8 The Customer may maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The parties shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

34.9 Neither party may maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description.

34.10 The Service Provider must maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The parties must document and report on the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Supplier must document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement.

34.11 The parties will maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party shall promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The parties must promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party must promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure.

34.12 The Supplier will maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party will maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

34.13 Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services during the Term. The Supplier will document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period.

34.14 The parties must document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Neither party will promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. Each party may promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Supplier may use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure.

34.15 Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Service Provider must document and report on the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure.

34.16 The parties shall co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party may co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

34.17 The Service Provider shall co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer must maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term.

34.18 The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer shall keep under review any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term.

34.19 Neither party must keep under review the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. Each party must co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The Customer shall document and report on any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The Customer must co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement.

34.20 The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

34.21 Each party will use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost.

34.22 The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties must promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. Neither party must promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Supplier will maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services within a reasonable period.

34.23 The Service Provider must keep under review the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier must promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party may promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties must use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. The Service Provider must document and report on the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

34.24 The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Supplier shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

34.25 The Customer may keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. Neither party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider shall keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Service Provider shall maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost.

34.26 The Supplier shall keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Neither party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. Neither party may use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement.

34.27 The Customer may promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The Supplier shall keep under review the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Customer will maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels at its own cost.

34.28 The parties shall keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

34.29 The Supplier may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party must keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party will document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The parties may promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term.

34.30 The Service Provider will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The parties may use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Customer will document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

34.31 Neither party shall maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. Each party shall promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period.

35. DISPUTE RESOLUTION

35.1 The Supplier will document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. Each party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider must maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. Each party must document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement.

35.2 The parties shall co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Service Provider shall promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. Each party may document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Supplier will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party must co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

35.3 Each party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer must use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Neither party will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

35.4 The Customer will document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties shall document and report on the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

35.5 Each party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The Supplier must co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party will co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost.

35.6 The parties may use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. The parties may document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels at its own cost.

35.7 The Customer shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The parties shall document and report on any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier must maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. Each party may maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

35.8 The parties shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

35.9 The Customer must keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. Neither party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

35.10 The Supplier must use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party shall keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. Each party may promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties will keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

35.11 The Customer will document and report on any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier must co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties shall document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period.

35.12 The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The parties must promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

35.13 Neither party may maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. The Supplier may promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The Supplier may maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

35.14 The Service Provider may provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Neither party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party may keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement.

35.15 The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service

Description. The Supplier may co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

35.16 The Supplier shall document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

35.17 The Service Provider may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. Neither party may keep under review the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier must co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party shall document and report on the performance of the Services at its own cost.

35.18 The Customer may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. Each party will document and report on the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description.

35.19 Neither party must keep under review the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party shall promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term.

35.20 The parties must maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Supplier may keep under review any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

35.21 Each party must co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall document and report on any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description.

35.22 Each party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Customer will keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

35.23 The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry

Practice. Neither party may document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. Each party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

35.24 The Service Provider may keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will keep under review the performance of the Services at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

35.25 The Service Provider shall co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party must keep under review the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Supplier may maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period.

35.26 The Supplier must use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. Neither party will keep under review the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. Each party will keep under review the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier will keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer will keep under review any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement.

35.27 Each party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels at its own cost.

35.28 The Service Provider must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party must keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

35.29 The Supplier will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. The parties shall keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties may keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services during the Term. Neither party may co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data during the Term.

35.30 The Service Provider shall promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost.

36. VARIATION

36.1 The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider must keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider shall document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period.

36.2 The Customer may document and report on any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The parties may document and report on the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party will keep under review the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period.

36.3 The parties may maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Service Provider will maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Each party will co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels at its own cost.

36.4 The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The parties will document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

36.5 The Supplier must promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The Service Provider will maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Service Provider shall keep under review the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

36.6 The parties must promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The Customer must promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Supplier will keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

36.7 The parties must keep under review any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. Neither party may document and report on the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services within a reasonable period.

36.8 The Service Provider must document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

36.9 The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Supplier must co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description.

36.10 The Service Provider shall co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Service Provider must co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer must promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description.

36.11 The Service Provider will comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party must keep under review the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier will maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier may keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. Each party must co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement.

36.12 Neither party may document and report on the performance of the Services during the Term. The Supplier shall co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

36.13 The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. Neither party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Customer will promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost.

36.14 Each party must document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party must maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. Each party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer must use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data at its own cost.

36.15 The parties will use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier must use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

36.16 Neither party may document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The Supplier shall promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data during the Term. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

36.17 Neither party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties must maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The Service Provider will keep under review the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The Supplier shall co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost.

36.18 The Service Provider shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The parties will document and report on the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Supplier must document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term.

36.19 The parties must keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer must document and report on any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. Each party may maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party may maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels during the Term.

36.20 Neither party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider may keep under review the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

36.21 Neither party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Supplier will maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. Each party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

36.22 The Customer may keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The Service Provider will maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. Neither party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description.

36.23 Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. Neither party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Supplier will co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period.

36.24 The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties may document and report on the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

36.25 The parties shall co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Service Provider shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. Neither party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement.

36.26 The Customer must co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services at its own cost. Neither party will promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. Neither party must co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider may keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure.

36.27 The Supplier must co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. Each party may document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

36.28 The parties may provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Customer will co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

36.29 Neither party will use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. Neither party will document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The parties must maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. Each party shall maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement.

36.30 The Customer may promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The Service Provider must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost.

36.31 Neither party may document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description.

36.32 Neither party may keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Supplier shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

36.33 The Supplier may promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. Neither party must promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure.

36.34 The parties will maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. Neither party will use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description.

36.35 Each party shall document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Service Provider will keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Customer shall co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Customer will maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement.

36.36 The Customer will document and report on the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party may keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

36.37 Neither party must keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The Customer will use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure.

37. WAIVER

37.1 The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties shall keep under review any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider will keep under review the performance of the Services at its own cost. Each party may promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term.

37.2 Neither party will keep under review the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. Neither party will use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. Each party may maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement.

37.3 Each party shall promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier must document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period.

37.4 The Customer will promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The Service Provider will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

37.5 Neither party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider may document and report on the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties may promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The parties may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data during the Term. Neither party will co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data at its own cost.

37.6 Neither party may promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Each party will keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. Each party must keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

37.7 The Supplier shall co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. The Customer may use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. Neither party will promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term.

37.8 The parties will keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

37.9 Each party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party may document and report on any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The parties shall document and report on the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description.

37.10 The Supplier shall keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party will maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties may document and report on any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier must promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period.

37.11 The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Service Provider shall document and report on any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Customer will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services at its own cost. The parties may document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier may co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description.

37.12 Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

37.13 The parties shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. Neither party shall maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party shall keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider shall document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description.

37.14 The Supplier will document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The parties shall maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party shall maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer shall maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The Service Provider shall co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term.

37.15 The Customer may co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. Each party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. Neither party shall promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

37.16 The Customer will use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will document and report on any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

37.17 The Service Provider may maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. Neither party will document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. Each party will promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. Neither party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement.

37.18 The Customer shall document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties may document and report on the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier must keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost.

37.19 Neither party shall promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party may document and report on the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier shall promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Service Provider will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services at its own cost.

37.20 The Customer will maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. The Service Provider shall promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

37.21 The parties may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description.

37.22 The Supplier shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer may maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party may promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period.

37.23 Neither party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Customer shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier shall document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties must co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party may keep under review any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure.

37.24 Neither party will maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. Each party may keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

37.25 The Service Provider will maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. Neither party may promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier shall co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost.

37.26 The parties shall promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Customer may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Neither party must keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider will maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

37.27 Each party shall promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party must maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services during the Term. Neither party may use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement.

37.28 The Supplier shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

37.29 Neither party must promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The parties must document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Service Provider may promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. Neither party shall document and report on any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Customer must promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description.

37.30 The parties will promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Customer will use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

38. SEVERANCE

38.1 Each party may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The Customer shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier will keep under review the security of the Customer Data during the Term.

38.2 The Service Provider must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Customer must use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The parties may provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period.

38.3 The Service Provider shall document and report on the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. Each party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider must co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term.

38.4 The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

38.5 Each party will use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. Each party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The parties may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. Each party shall promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall document and report on the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

38.6 The Customer may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. The Supplier may keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties must co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description.

38.7 The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier may use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer shall co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description.

38.8 Each party may document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Customer shall keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

38.9 The Service Provider must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The Customer shall promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services at its own cost. Neither party must keep under review any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement.

38.10 Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties shall co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services during the Term. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

38.11 The Supplier may co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier must maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties must keep under review any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

38.12 The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

38.13 Neither party will co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data at its own cost.

38.14 Each party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer may maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. Neither party shall keep under review the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement.

38.15 Each party shall promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. Neither party must document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure.

38.16 The Service Provider shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

38.17 Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The parties must promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties must comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. Neither party will co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description.

38.18 The Supplier must co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description.

38.19 The Service Provider must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Customer must maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Customer may maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party must keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure.

38.20 The parties may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The Supplier may co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

38.21 The Customer shall promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. The parties must use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

38.22 The Customer may document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party shall maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The parties must promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The Supplier shall promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

38.23 The parties shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The Service Provider must co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Service Provider may promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

38.24 The Supplier must promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Supplier will document and report on the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

38.25 Neither party shall co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties must use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost.

38.26 Each party must maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The parties must keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Supplier may keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels at its own cost.

38.27 Neither party may promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost.

38.28 The Customer may document and report on the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier shall co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

38.29 The Supplier will keep under review the security of the Customer Data during the Term. Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

Neither party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. The Supplier shall maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

39. ENTIRE AGREEMENT

39.1 The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The parties shall document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer will document and report on the performance of the Services during the Term.

39.2 Neither party may co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may document and report on the performance of the Services at its own cost. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services at its own cost. Neither party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The parties must promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description.

39.3 Each party shall promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Customer shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. Each party must document and report on the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period.

39.4 The Supplier may use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. The Customer must use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

39.5 The Supplier must maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties shall keep under review any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party may document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer may maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels as described in the Service Description. Each party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure.

39.6 The Service Provider must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. The Customer must document and report on any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term.

39.7 The Supplier will maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Supplier may maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The parties will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term.

39.8 The parties will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties will keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

39.9 The Supplier may maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Supplier may use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services at its own cost.

39.10 The parties may promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The parties will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier shall keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost.

39.11 Each party shall document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. Each party will keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The parties will use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties shall maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period.

39.12 The Service Provider may promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties shall maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

39.13 The Customer may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services during the Term.

39.14 Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. Neither party will promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. Each party must maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party must co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. Each party must promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period.

39.15 Each party will promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party shall promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The parties shall keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term.

39.16 Each party will keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer will keep under review the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

39.17 The Supplier shall keep under review the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Customer will use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. Each party must maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure.

39.18 Neither party will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties may keep under review the performance of the Services during the Term. The Service Provider shall promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period.

39.19 Neither party may promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. Each party may maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term.

39.20 The Supplier may document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The parties shall co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

39.21 The Supplier shall keep under review the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services within a reasonable period.

39.22 The Service Provider must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The parties may keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The parties may use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

39.23 Each party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. Neither party shall promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Service Provider may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

39.24 The Customer may maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party may document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

39.25 Each party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Customer will use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer shall promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure.

39.26 The Customer must promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party must co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The parties may use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services during the Term.

39.27 The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The Supplier shall promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period.

39.28 The parties must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Customer must promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

39.29 The Customer may promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. The Service Provider will maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The parties must co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. The Service Provider may use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels during the Term.

39.30 The Supplier may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Supplier must co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier may keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period.

40. GOVERNING LAW AND JURISDICTION

40.1 The Service Provider will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer will maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider will keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier will keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure.

40.2 The Service Provider may use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The Customer must co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier may use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The parties may promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period.

40.3 The Customer may maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. Neither party shall document and report on the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

40.4 Neither party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. Each party will document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

40.5 Each party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider may use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. Neither party will keep under review any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Customer may promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure.

40.6 The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The Supplier will maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services at its own cost. Each party must promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period.

40.7 The parties must document and report on the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. Neither party may document and report on any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The parties must use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Service Provider will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

40.8 The Service Provider must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer shall keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

40.9 The Service Provider shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier must use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement.

40.10 The Supplier may promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. The Supplier will maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier must keep under review the performance of the Services at its own cost.

40.11 The Service Provider must maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services during the Term. Each party shall maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement.

40.12 The Supplier may co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

40.13 The Customer may document and report on any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties may maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The Customer must co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description.

40.14 The Supplier must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider may use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The Supplier shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Supplier shall keep under review the performance of the Services during the Term. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period.

40.15 Each party will use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. The Supplier may document and report on any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The parties will document and report on the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

40.16 This Agreement and any dispute or claim arising out of or in connection with it shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the Emirate of Dubai.

40.17 The Service Provider may document and report on any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier will document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. Neither party may maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier must maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

40.18 The parties shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost. Each party will maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

40.19 The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. Each party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The parties must document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Neither party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels during the Term.

40.20 The Service Provider must co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

40.21 The Customer must use reasonable endeavours to procure any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The Customer will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Customer must use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services during the Term.

40.22 The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier will maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Customer must keep under review the security of the Customer Data within a reasonable period. The parties shall use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement.

40.23 The Service Provider will keep under review any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The Customer shall document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. The parties may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider must co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period.

40.24 The Service Provider will document and report on the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Supplier may promptly notify the other party of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

40.25 The Service Provider may document and report on the performance of the Services during the Term. The Service Provider shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services at its own cost. The Supplier will co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The Supplier will keep under review the performance of the Services within a reasonable period.

40.26 The Customer must document and report on the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider must document and report on the security of the Customer Data during the Term. The parties may comply with all applicable requirements relating to any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider may document and report on the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description.

40.27 Neither party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. The Customer must document and report on the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

40.28 The Service Provider will document and report on any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party shall document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

40.29 Neither party will document and report on the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The parties may provide reasonable assistance in relation to the security of the Customer Data on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party may promptly notify the other party of any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period.

40.30 The Supplier will use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider must promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Each party may document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period.

40.31 Each party may co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services at its own cost. Each party may maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The parties shall document and report on the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. The Supplier may co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term.

40.32 The Customer will document and report on the performance of the Services during the Term. Each party shall keep under review any change to the Service Levels subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

40.33 Neither party shall document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party must promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description.

40.34 The Supplier shall document and report on any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The Service Provider shall co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider may document and report on the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

40.35 Neither party may maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. Neither party must comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. The Supplier may maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Service Provider must maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost.

40.36 The Customer must use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

40.37 The Supplier will maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. The Supplier shall keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. Each party must maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period.

40.38 The Supplier will keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider will co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services within a reasonable period. The Service Provider shall co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The parties may co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The parties must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description.

40.39 The parties will maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services during the Term. The parties will promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services as described in the Service Description.

40.40 Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Each party will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

40.41 Neither party will document and report on the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party may promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services during the Term. The parties shall keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party on the terms of this Agreement. The Supplier will promptly notify the other party of the security of the Customer Data as described in the Service Description. The parties will promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description.

40.42 The Service Provider may promptly notify the other party of any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Customer will comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels during the Term. The parties will promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services at its own cost.

40.43 The Customer will use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Neither party must document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work as described in the Service Description. Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term. The Service Provider must comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels on the terms of this Agreement.

40.44 The parties shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Neither party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data in accordance with Good Industry Practice. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

40.45 Each party will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services at its own cost. Each party will maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. The Customer shall document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work during the Term.

40.46 The parties must document and report on the security of the Customer Data during the Term. Neither party must co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party must maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period.

40.47 The Customer shall keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier shall document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties must use reasonable endeavours to procure the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Customer shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost.

40.48 The Supplier shall co-operate in good faith regarding any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. Neither party will promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

40.49 The Supplier will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. Each party shall provide reasonable assistance in relation to the performance of the Services at its own cost.

40.50 Neither party may promptly notify the other party of the transition plan agreed between the parties as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider shall co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Customer may maintain accurate records of the performance of the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider shall co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer may document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement.

40.51 The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider may co-operate in good faith regarding the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider must keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

40.52 The Supplier must co-operate in good faith regarding the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The parties shall keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

40.53 The Service Provider shall keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. Each party will use reasonable endeavours to procure the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The Service Provider shall document and report on any audit reasonably requested by the other party within a reasonable period. Each party shall use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties within a reasonable period. The Customer may co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services at its own cost.

40.54 The Supplier must maintain accurate records of the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. The Service Provider must maintain accurate records of any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. Neither party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost.

40.55 The Service Provider must use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Customer will keep under review the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. The Service Provider must comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. Each party will promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost.

40.56 Each party may use reasonable endeavours to procure the transition plan agreed between the parties during the Term. Neither party must promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement as described in the Service Description. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

40.57 The parties will maintain accurate records of the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Service Provider may provide reasonable assistance in relation to any change to the Service Levels within a reasonable period. Neither party shall co-operate in good faith regarding the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description.

40.58 Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The parties will document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier may document and report on the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Service Provider may keep under review any change to the Service Levels in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

40.59 The Supplier will provide reasonable assistance in relation to the transition plan agreed between the parties at its own cost. The Supplier will comply with all applicable requirements relating to the transition plan agreed between the parties subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party will use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party as described in the Service Description. Each party may promptly notify the other party of the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. Each party must keep under review the governance procedures set out in this Agreement subject to the Change Control Procedure.

40.60 The Supplier shall maintain accurate records of any change to the Service Levels during the Term. Each party will document and report on the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work within a reasonable period. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

40.61 The Customer may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the performance of the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure. Each party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. Each party may keep under review the security of the Customer Data at its own cost. Neither party must use reasonable endeavours to procure the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control Procedure.

40.62 The Customer will provide reasonable assistance in relation to any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. The Supplier may use reasonable endeavours to procure the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The Customer must co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement in accordance with Good Industry Practice. The Supplier must promptly notify the other party of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement during the Term. The Customer may maintain accurate records of the transition plan agreed between the parties in accordance with Good Industry Practice.

40.63 The Customer must keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The parties must keep under review the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work at its own cost. The Customer shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term.

40.64 Each party shall comply with all applicable requirements relating to the governance procedures set out in this Agreement on the terms of this Agreement. Each party may comply with all applicable requirements relating to the personnel assigned to the Services on the terms of this Agreement. This clause shall survive termination or expiry of this Agreement.

40.65 The Supplier must keep under review any audit reasonably requested by the other party during the Term. The Customer will co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services at its own cost. The Customer must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the personnel assigned to the Services during the Term. The Supplier will co-operate in good faith regarding the governance procedures set out in this Agreement within a reasonable period. The Supplier may co-operate in good faith regarding the personnel assigned to the Services subject to the Change Control Procedure.

40.66 The Service Provider will keep under review the personnel assigned to the Services within a reasonable period. The parties will comply with all applicable requirements relating to any change to the Service Levels at its own cost. Each party must provide reasonable assistance in relation to the deliverables described in the relevant Statement of Work subject to the Change Control Procedure.

40.67 Neither party will use reasonable endeavours to procure any audit reasonably requested by the other party at its own cost. Neither party shall promptly notify the other party of the performance of the Services as described in the Service Description. The Customer must maintain accurate records of the security of the Customer Data subject to the Change Control

Procedure. The Supplier shall maintain accurate records of the governance procedures set out in this Agreement at its own cost.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF the parties have executed this Agreement on the date first written above.

Signed for and on behalf of Acme Holdings LLC

By: _____

Name: Jane Doe

Title: Chief Executive Officer